Dr. Shoulders. Maddox Denounce New Deal Health Bills Before Georgia Physicians.

By LUKE GREENE. Government-supervised med-Ical care was linked with Communism and political dictatorship by two speakers who sharply criticized it last night in addresses before the annual convention of the Medical Association of Georgia. Dr. H. H. Shoulders, of Nashville, Tenn., speaker of the house of delegates of the American Medical Association, outlined legislation proposed by Senator Wagner, of New York, and charged that the Communist party of New York had given its indorsement to this national health program. Robert F. Maddox, 'Atlanta banker and chairman of the Georgia Board of Health, also attacked the New Deal health measures and declared they constituted an effort by the administration "to encroach upon the management of the medical profession as it has gia school students who face the on so many other lines of busi-

It shows why the Georgia market is known as a "free market" to the man with the truck, how he is enabled to "dump" on the Atlanta market fruits and vegetables he cannot afford to haul into other states. Here are the licenses imposed on truck peddlers throughout the United States:

POISON RING LEADER

Insurance Plotters Operating in Four States Cited in Inquiry.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—(AP) A middle-aged Italian immigrant, now a prisoner in a New York penitentiary, was pictured by Police Captain James A. Kelly today as a "big shot" of a "corporation" that dealt in death by poison to collect insurance money.

Kelly's statement, recording of widow's confession that she polsoned her husband and three arrests on murder charges climaxed a sensation-packed day in the ever-widening investigation of a poison ring which a trial judge re-cently said may have taken "scores" of lives in "its mad quest for money."

Detectives have said plotters operated in at least four eastern seaboard states.

The prisoner Captain Kelly termed a ring leader is Caesar Valenti, 55, serving a sentence in Riker's Island penitentiary, N. Y., for liquor law violation.

Detectives named Valenti and two other men, Herman and Paul Petrillo, as key figures in the ring, but said some of the "real brains" were still at large. Herman has been convicted of first-degree murder. Paul is facing trial. Among the leaders, detectives are seeking a man known only as "The Rabbi," and an alluring brunette voman "with a kiss of death."

A&P Stores sell all leading nationally known brands of evaporated milk, yet White House outsells them all. For it has real quality—at a thrifty price. Only pure fresh milk from tested herds is used in its making. A&P evaporates it.
A&P's own graduate chemists and dairymen supervise every step of the process. Equally important, White House is accepted by the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association. Here is the strongest proof that White House must be good—and its low price must meet favor with the majority!

Only 9 per cent from the south were malignant growths of the gastro-intestinal tract, very difficult to treat, compared with 36 per cent in the northern states. Dr. Scheele assigned no reason the difference, and indicated might afford an important clue for the prevention of cancer.

Population Density?
Dr. Campbell, however, expres ed the opinion the greater density of population in the north was partly responsible. He said cancer is on the increase because of the growing number of aged persons. There are now, he said, about 5,000,000 more people past 65 than there were 30 years ago. Cancer is more prevalent among persons past 50.

Seated with T. Hicks Fort, the orator of the occasion, and officers of the Atlanta Ladies Memorial Association were a poignant group of Confederate veterans, including General J. R. Jones, General James L. Driver, General M. Y. Griggs, General A. G. Harris, of Monroe; Dr. J. F. Webb, Frank Herndon, J. T. Pittman, A. W. Dawn, James Sims, of Monroe; P. H. Maddux, and J. L. Snellgrove. Colonel Mathews introduied Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist Church, who gave the invocation. Then, as rain fell in a sharp, quick shower, the Georgia State Girls' Military Band played the "Star Spangled Banner" while the audience stood. The specta-tors remained standing while Harry A. Alexander, Jr., raised the Confederate flag; Colonel Mathews and the audience gave the salute to the flag, and the band played "Dixie."

Program Presented Cadet Major William Bindewald of Marist College recited "To a Confederate Flag," and the Girls' High Glee Club sang Mendels sohn's "Lift Thine Eyes," in moving cadence. L. Marvin Roberts, area commander of the American Legion, recited the "Ode to the Heroes Who Sleep."

The audience—as one—sang "Faith of Our Fathers," led by the Salvation Army Band. Miss Jean Osborne of Agnes Scott Col-lege recited "Confederate Req-uiem," by Virginia Fraser Boyle, poet-laureate of the Confederate veterans.

The Girls' High Glee Club sang again, this time Tschaikowsky's "God of All Nations."

After the address, the audience sang "God Be With You 'Til We Meet Again," and Dr. Fuller gave the benediction.

A rifle salute from a squad of the 122nd infantry, Georgia National Guard, and "Taps," sound-

The court pointed out that the certiorari would be granted "only in cases involving great public concern, and in matters of gravity and importance."

The revised rules also provide for the carrying out of the new law which authorizes the justices to call in one or more judges from the superior courts when members of the supreme court are disqualified or disqualify themselves. Heretofore the bench was filled out by superior judges designated by the Governor.

Rehearings Revised.

The court also revised somewhat the rule parmitting motions.

Declares He Has No Idea of President's Views on 3d Term, Though.

United States District Attorney Lawrence Camp, close personal and political friend of President Roosevelt, believes the President "the only sure bet for the Democrats of 1940."

Returning, from Washington Camp said he had "no idea what the President's views are on a third term," but added "his unselfish devotion to the people leads me to hope he will be willing to make the sacrifice."

Camp asserted he had talked in Washington with "Representative Democrats from all parts of the country" and found "all of them believe Mr. Roosevelt is the only candidate who could be counted on for a Democratic victory in 1940." He dismissed tradition against a third term as unlikely to be considered by voters.

Yield Down Considerably, U. S. Weather Bureau Report Says.

Curtailment of the state's peach crops as a result of late frosts was reported yesterday by the United States Weather Bureau.

In its weekly survey of weather and crop conditions, the bureau said the peach yield was "considerably cut down."

The slow spring showers which have fallen over sections of the state the last few days, were said to have materially improved semidrought conditions in parts of Georgia, though April still shows a deficiency of nearly an inch and half below normal rainfall.

Today's forecast for Atlanta and vicinity is partly cloudy weather, with probably a few more showers. The day's maximum will be 80 degrees.

Cotton planting, according to the bureau report, is progressing with "considerable activity," though temperatures were unfavorably low for germination for ton is coming up in middle and southern sections of the state, and chopping has been started in southern counties

Generally favorable conditions prevailed for corn, wheat, oats, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, sugar cane and pastures, though pasture lands could have used more rain.

Most truck crops, the report said, have needed more rain and warmer weather. Peanut planting is getting under way, strawberries have produced well, and the asparagus season is closing.

BillTurnerMarks His 43d Year as Press Foreman

Yesterday, the 43d anniversary of his elevation to his present post as foreman of the press room of The Constitution, found Bill Turner recovering from an illness which has held him in his home for three weeks.

Bill Turner is the patriarch of Constitution. He has been with the newspaper longer than any other man in its employ. He went to work as an apprentice in the press room on June 23, 1878, and was made foreman on April

A year ago, in celebration of Bill's 60th year in service he was given a bronze plaque. At that time, Major Clark Howell, editor and publisher, said:

"I doubt if Bill Turner's record can be equalled in Atlanta, I doubt if there is a man in Atlanta who is still working for the same com pany where he started 60 years

No one has come forward to dispute that record. And Bill has never worked anywhere but on The Constitution. For Tolerance

An unusual realization of opportunity for public service was voiced recently by a young theological student. Asked what his plans were, after leaving the seminary, he said he expected, of course, to preach. Pressed for greater detail as to his thoughts and objectives, he said one of the main ideals which he held before himself was that he might, through his preaching and ministration to a congregation, be able to instill greater tolerance and to combat some of that spirit of religious or racial hatred which has been so evil a factor in some sections of the

The young student concluded by remarking that he thought his own denomination offered a most fertile field for an enemy of intolerance, admitting thereby that the evil was rife in its membership.

Few embryonic ministers, or other young men facing the beginning of their careers, have as clear a conception of opportunity to serve as this theological student. There is something heartwarming in his words, evidencing a new spirit of understanding and, with all reverence, a new understanding of the spirit of Chris-

Public service, in one form or another, is open to all young men. Regardless of their status in life, whether they be professional men or minor employes of business, they have the opportunity, through character, intelligence and interest in public questions, to serve their communities, their people and their state. Exactly upon the degree in which these youth realize and accept that opportunity, will depend the progress of the state, the nation and the world and will likewise hang the solution of present social and economic problems. Unless youth meets these problems and solves them, the outlook for all of us is dark.

But, while young ministers are inspired with the determination to slay the hideous dragon of intolerance, while young doctors are fired with the purpose to raise the standards of public health and conquer disease, while young businessmen are dedicated to end unethical conduct in business and in industry, there is bright hope for a more glorious future.

Without Frontiers

It is necessary to cross this country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the gulf to Canada and back again, to really grasp the significance of the word "unity" as it applies to these United Gliding over the plains or weaving through the mountains in a comfortable railroad car, or over the smooth highways in a motor vehicle, it is never known when the frontier of one state has been left behind or another looms ahead. How vastly at variance with the barricaded, guarded boundaries in most countries of the world today, where every traveller is cross-examined as to his theories of life and religious beliefs before being permitted to pass in or out.

It cannot be maintained that this vast expanse of territory, these millions of people, are bound together by the common ties of blood, or religion, or the common influence of geography or climate, for there are none of these. More accurately they are held together by the common purpose of remaining free, a determination born of the early struggles and experiences of those who fled the old order abroad to build life anew in a changed environment.

Yet, what is this relation between the people of Georgia, for instance, and those who inhabit the far-away western plains and mountains which is so conducive to unity of purpose? It is not blood, nor climate, nor landscape, nor language, although language doubtless has much to do with it. It is the simple belief, gleaned from the history of human relations, that every other theory of government has been tried and found wanting, that even though ours is not perfect, it is the most satisfactory ever devised by and for man. This belief, this unity of purpose is so strong, is so deeply graven in the consciousness of the people, north, east, south and west, that an American citizen feels the same sense of freedom in all of the 48 states.

With encirclement well nigh complete, there is a hiatus in the depredations of the new Caesars-what the poets describe as a rift in arteries. The unspeakable democracies would maneuver poor Germany into a position where there is no recourse but peace.

"Who was that small country I seen you with, Adolf?" "That was no country. That was my birthday present."

Candler Field

The proposal of Mayor Hartsfield to spend $1,200,000 for extension and improvements to Candler field can only be regarded as a necessary investment for the future, without which the city cannot look forward to the flow of business naturally stemming from its present position as the southeastern transportation hub.

Quite often civic improvements can be postponed, or regarded as a luxury. But this is not a matter of a postponable improvement, or a luxury, but a necessity. It cannot be too strongly urged that the work be accomplished with all dispatch.

While the field today is barely adequate for the passenger liners of the skies, the limit of safety is not sufficient, and the addition of larger planes to maintain full service will make the field obsolete. Should this eventuality arrive, then the city will become merely a feeder stop on lines fanning out to Washington and New York, to Chicago, Miami, New Orleans, Dallas and Houston. In addition, there will be lost the trade advantages of the great South American market served by Pan-American Air-

The extensions proposed are the minimum They are not expensive luxuries, but absolute necessities. With this in mind, it is difficult to see how any Atlantan can conscientiously oppose setting up the machinery to obtain the funds as soon as possible.

The Expatriates Return

Any number of expatriated Americans are now finding the United States, at least temporarily, more alluring than their adopted lands. Every boat brings its sojourner home and every sojourner brings his theory. Ezra Pound, poet and composer, in the front rank of the free verse movement which followed hard upon the free lunch era before prohibition, has just put into a safe American harbor after 31 years in the poetic surroundings of Europe.

During the last decade and a half he has inhaled the proscribed atmosphere of Fascist Italy. It probably would be expecting a miracle to hope for an up-to-the-minute acquaintance with American sentiments regarding the present unpleasantness from that source. The controlled press and radio of Benito Mussolini would hardly be conducive to the notion prevailing here that Il Duce, himself, has a hand

Mr. Pound was born in the midwest. He is still weighted with a heavy load of that peculiar brand of nonsense, so ably expounded by Senator Gerald P. Nye and others, that the "munitions manufacturers" are responsible for the whole dirty business. That theory, of course, fits in beautifully with Mr. Pound's future plans. He wants to return to Italy as soon as the war scare is over, so he tactfully blames everything on the "wicked" munition manufacturers. He could not very well risk calling a spade a spade with Il Duce wild.

The old political catch-phrase, however, isn't as potent in the United States today as it was during Mr. Pound's former sojournings here. Faced with the necessity of building up the nation's defenses against possible aggressive war, the authorities are finding, greatly to their dismay, that the wicked manufacturers of munitions, who cause the wars, have practically gone out of business in the United States. The largest, and for that reason the most "wicked" of the lot, now devotes about 99 per cent of its efforts to peaceful pursuits.

In case of a sudden necessity for arms on a large scale, the same people who have been condemning the munition manufacturers as "makers of wars," would be urging them, as a patriotic duty, to get back into the business. This gives a certain emptiness to Expatriate Pound's theory-at least on this side of the

Editorial of the Day RAMIFIED COTTON PROBLEM

(From The Dallas Morning News.) It is becoming clear that the American cotton problem involves many interests besides the farmers. Producers have held the spotlight so long that sight may have been lost of other indispensable processing industries to whom farmers look if their cotton is to be consumed. At this late day the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association and the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association are becoming increasingly vocal as to their respective troubles.

It is interesting, however, to note how different are the remedies suggested. The textile manufacturers demand a czar to regulate their production just like cotton farmers now have in the AAA, while the ginners want the dictatorship governing cotton production modified so that they can have more cotton to gin and be assured of Texas and Oklahoma are to be permitted to increase their cotton planting operations by 1,300,000 acres to produce an additional 600,000 bales. No man knows just what would be done with the additional cotton, except to add it to the government loan bales now about to

Perhaps if American cotton manufacturers had given more thought to the production of goods with a greater style appeal, by which they could compete with the dazzling fabrics made of rayon, cotton would have retained its rightful proportion of the domestic market. These synthetic fibers have had the benefit not only of their own star tling beauty of workmanship but of a concerted selling attack upon the American housewife. While the future of Texas cotton is not bright there still is time to salvage what without clear thinking and fearless expression may be irre-trievably lost. Not only textile manufacturers and ginners, but exporters, warehousemen, transportation agencies, cotton crushers, seed breeders and every industry connected in any way with cotton should long ago have presented a united front to fight for the preservation of their com-

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

THE GARNER CANDIDACY WASHINGTON, April 26.- John Nance Garner's presidential candidacy is not being taken seriously by the really tough and knowing Democratic chieftains. That is not to say there is doubt as to the usually canny old Vice President's desire for higher things. Some still argue that "Jack only wants to get enough delegates to have a say in the convention," but those who have actually seen the gleam in the Garner eye are unanimous that he is a candidate in dead expect.

His candidacy is not being taken seriously for another reason It's simply not thought possible that he can get the presidential nomination, however favorable his newspaper build-up and however great his personal following. Even among the men closest to him, the powerful leaders of the orthodox Democratic group in congress, there are plenty who smile at the Garner ambitions. are inclined to take a rather rueful line, saying, "It's too bad Jack should be like all the other good men who have let the build-up

AT THE WHITE HOUSE Plenty of those who think Garner is after something he can't get would be glad to see him in the White House. Their low opinion of Garner's chances is based not on any personal judgment, but on much more brutally practical considerations. Of these, the first is the President's attitude. From Postmaster General James A. Farely down to the lowest wardheeler, every Democrat who is not in politics for his health knows that the President's support is essential to success in 1940. The President's following lies precisely among the liberal and labor groups which hold the balance of political power. If he should tip the wink to his followers that he cares nothing for a Democratic victory, then Democratic victory would be pretty well out

And if it were not for the convenient hypocrisy practiced by all politicians, the Roosevelt-Garner relationship would have ended long ago. Each is pleasant enough to the other when they are thrown together, but each is privately saying the sharpest kind of things about the other. The little birds who are commoner than starlings in Washington have been careful that each should know what the other has said. Furthermore, the Vice President is an acknowledged opponent of many presidential policies, and no one expects the President to accept a candidate-whether Garner or another—who has frankly opposed him on any major issue.

There is a grim general forecast of what the President would do if Garner or someone like him were chosen to carry the standard 18 months from now. He would first secretly encourage New Vork's bustling Mayor F. H. LaGuardia or another man of the same stripe to put an aggressively liberal third-party ticket in the field. He would then send his New Deal followers-such men as Secretary of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins-into the third party camp And finally, while maintaining an ostensible regularity, he would refuse all real recognition to the Democratic candidate, and show favor to the third party by some such gesture as asking LaGuardia to Hyde Park for the week end. Practical Democratic politicians know and fear the President's genius for this kind of hinting

AT THE POST OFFICE The other two considerations working against Garner are obvious enough. Whatever the President's behavior, the labor groups could scarcely be induced to support the Uvalde squire, whose opinions on labor matters are strongly conservative. Besides labor there are the negroes. The kidnaping of the negro voters caused the huge Democratic majority in 1936. They are slipping back to their normal Republicanism, but where the Democrats now expect to lose only half of them, they would have to face the loss of every last one if Garner headed the ticket. Garner's chances, with the President, labor and the negroes against him, will be small indeed. After all, however industriously his supporters seek for delegates, the 1940 Democratic convention is going to be composed of postmasters, United States marshals and other functionaries who want to keep their jobs. To keep their jobs, they must name a man who can win, and they will hardly be persuaded that Garner can win under the circumstances. Finally, it can be stated positively that the alliance with Jim Farley, on which Garner's friends have relied so heavily, does not exist in fact. The two men were and are intimate friends. Until the new year, when Garner began to run in earnest, Farley and he worked together. But since that date Farley has left his crony Farley has every reason to have his own his own devices. plans, and supporting a candidate whom the President can refuse to approve is not part of them. Retaining Faith.

It won't be long, now, before our colleges and universities, our high schools and technological training centers, will be graduating the 1939 crop of young hopefuls, eager to take their places in the world of men and women, to clinging to some do their parts in the pattern of things for their generation.

One of the tragedies of life, it often seems, is the way in which young men, eager and interested in life and its problems, fresh from the cultural effects of four years of college, go out into the business world and, within half a dozen years, have lost all enthusiasm for public service, have permitted their interest in social problems to die away and have even abondoned the habit of worthwhile reading.

If young men would only strive to keep keen and bright the sharp sword of youthful enthusiasm, if they would only realize that grad-uation should really be the beginning, and not the end, of study and personal development, there soon be a revolution in affairs of the people of this nation.

Baccalaureate Platitudes.

Oh, I know that the average older person, called upon to deliver a baccalaureate address or even to Monday, April 27, 1914: give .. little advice, individual'y to some young graduate, is too apt to dive into the ocean of platitudes and come up with a han iful of moral idealisms and wise max-When what the youngster really seeks is some practical tips on how to make a living and rarve place for himself in But what can the older ones do They have lived long enough to learned that more depends, after all, on those same platitudes than impatient youth realizes. Copybook maxims may not be effective, because of their reiteration and obviousness. Yet, if all the world would but obey in fullest sense that best known list of maxims of them all—the ten com-

If you thoroughly analyze, for instance, the simple phrase "Thou Shalt Not Steal," it contains all required to reform every human contact. For there are so many ways to steal, and so many things to steal. With so few of them really subject to punishment under man's system of law.

Simple, Yet Basic.

After all, the important things that go into the making of a life are simple and few. Honor, dig-nity, enthusiasm, self-respect, innity, enthusiasm, self-respect, in-dependence. Inter-related and all

Give these to any young man and, even though his earnings are

Don't sneer and say that it is pedantic idealism. For it is true. There are tens of thousands of humble men, deprived of nearly all those material things we conider necessary to modern living, who are far greater successes than many a man who pays a heavy income tax—or evades it.

Propaganda NEW YORK CITY, April 26. Well, here we go again. I quote from a distinguished colleague of great reportorial accuracy: American friends of the League of Nations have brough together a cross-section committee for concerted peace efforts. The week from April 26th to May 3rd has been designated as peace and security week, with Donald R. Richberg as national chairman an Mrs. Lucretia Grady as vice chair-(This is a committee for week—the week of Hitler's reply to Roosevelt. Its object is a week of public clamor if that reply is unsatisfactory.) "Although Mrs. Grady is vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee the movement is non-political and non-partisan."

"Mass meetings are being arranged for Friday when Hitler speaks in reply to Mr. Roosevelt's peace proposal . . . American sen-timent has not rallied behind that opportunity as strongly as it could' (Maybe it didn't want to) . . . Hence the timely importance of the mass meetings . . . such mass propaganda must be conducted with the greatest care and intelli gence . . . it is not going to help anybody in this situation rangue the American public about how the good democracies must gang up on the wicked dictator--not unless Hitler slams the door shut next Friday. Then it will be time enough."

The hell it will. Then our "good democracy" can gang up with 23 dictatorships including the bloody despotisms of Russia and make everything all right—and there will be the committee all ready to ballyhoo that. But to continue the quotation, "Those who would make merican opinion vocal say" etc.

Emotion. That last one is Not Opinion the pay-off.
There isn't any considerable American opinion for 'friends of the League of Nations.' We had a "great and solemn referendum" on that question once and since then the League has proved its futility. There isn't any Amercan opinion whatever, for ing up" on one side or the other in Europe or for getting into a general European war before it starts. There are no such opinions to be made vocal. This isn't any attempt to make anybody vocal except some volunteers like the seven tailors of Tooley street, who called themselves "We, the people of themselves "We, the peo England." It isn't a move calize existing opinion. It is an attempt to manufacture American emotion rather than opinion for repeating the tragic folly of 1917, and to make it by the immemorial savage incitements of mass meetngs, war dances, red fire and tomtom beating. Raymond Clapper, from whose account I quote, does vell to call it "mass propaganda." But how can the voo-doo rites of mass propaganda be conducted with "the greatest care and intelligence?" It is like trying to conduct a Sioux sun dance, an gorot canyow or a thlinkit potach-or going on a big binge-or regulating any other emotional ex-plosion with "the greatest care and intelligence."

Mass meetings fanned by inflammatory oratory into unreasoning mobs, are no way to decide whether we want to "gang up" if we don't like what Hitler says. That was the method of dancing carmagnole and "Caira" to incite the French terror

Not Monroe There is an attempt to justify Doctrine Doctrine this primitive pro--peace by taking sides in possible war! And it is "nonpartisan and non-political!" Meb-beso. ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

FABULOUS ARMY The last flag went by. The last old veteran had gon on. The last soldier, the last automobile, passed on down the street.

Far down one still could see the tips of the rifles. That was all. The sound of the band came faintly back. Another Memorial Day was done.

It was a fabulous army-this one which was honored yesterday. It had its deserters, its cowards, its selfish profiteers. Yet it did have something else; some quality of the old knights; some hint of the ruffled sleeve; the unsheathed sword of chivalry; the quality of courage beyond that of the average army in the field. It did have a fabulous strain.

One may ponder the mystery of that army; the riddle of Robert E. Lee; the puzzle of Bull Run with Washington a few miles away;

The Old Guard, deserted by Napoleon in that long horror of the retreat from Moscow, managed to have a remnant of its men arrive in Paris, marching in formation. That was one of the miracles of the world's campaigns. There was something more magnificent, even, in the ragged retreat; in the many and unwritten stands which fought off the horde of blue until, at last, the last camp was reached at Appo-

There was something of the same quality in the homes them-selves. The negroes, who remained faithful, make up one of the unique chapters in the history of war; the women who sacrificed all they had known of comfort and luxury; the mistresses of plantations who became the only real source of supply the government had—all join with the army in creating a fabulous story.

They, the soldiers and the people at home, gave "the last full measure of devotion." It was not their fault that wounds came later, the scars of which not yet have healed.

THOSE WHO FOLLOWED The marchers, perhaps, were more interesting than the old men. The old men, the veterans, are symbols of the old glory. Today there are wounds unhealed from that war, but many a schoolgirl isn't quite sure about the War Between the States and isn't at all bitter about it. The wounds are, for the most part, economic wounds.

There were many organizations of many faiths and purposes, including even the masked Klan, alien to most things American, marching in ridiculous sheets and hoods, in the line of march. It was a patriotic demonstration, I thought, and not so much a Me-morial Day for those who had been killed in battle and been sleeping these three-quarters of a century and more. But then this is a period when there is much patriotic fervor. The old men, tired and excited by the annual celebration, did not mind. And patriotism is to be desired.

There was much fervor and many parties before Old Man Ruffin fired the first shell at Fort Sumter; the congressmen came out from Washington with baskets of lunch, bottles of brandy and fat cigars watch the Battle of Bull Run.

How would a Memorial Day parade be if it passed in solemn eview, with bands playing Chopin's funeral march? How would it be if we ceased making war and the prospect of war attractive? What would those of the fabulous army say, if they could speak from the old graves? Or does it matter?

.THE WOUNDS REMAIN The wounds of war remain as freight rates which discriminate, tariffs and taxes against things southern, and a system of patronage which with the other things has kept the south in the status of a colonial possession.

The south paid billions in pensions; billions in freight rate differentials. The south's income, which is low, would be about the same as that of the richest state if the billions had not been sent ay. The south still pays. The south still is exploited. The fault? Largely that of the south.

We grow angry at the charge that the south is the No. 1 economic problem. Or we admit it. We retain our regionalism. One school of thought says we must keep it or become industrial peons. Another says we must lose it or become agrarian peasants. Somewhere in the middle is the truth and no one knows where the middle lies

Cotton, which once was a monopoly, has lived to see the day when it was condemned as a curse; when 11,000,000 bales were held in warehouses while a government sought to solve the farm problem and made it worse; when rayon came into the mills to displace the cotton fiber.

Yet, something of the old fabulous strain remains in the people of the south. The regionalism, which is a rallying force, may lead out to better things. The south has been prodded into action. Salt has been put into the economic wounds. The south is beginning to fight, to take up economic arms. Progress is being made. that patriotism be turned into work for the south; that organizations seek to take up economic rifles and the old ghosts of rifles from stricken fields of long ago; that the war cry of work create more beef cattle, more terraced fields, more pigs, more pastures, eliminate more gullies, rebuild more land, create more industry, start more wheels spinning, create more jobs; that each succeeding Memorail Day find the south progressing and at peace; that we quit singing "Dixie" and work at making Dixie

Little Boats Must Stay Close to Shore When the Hurricane Signals Fly

By ROBERT QUILLEN. One of John Steinbeck's characters, having returned from prison, is asked by his mother whether they gave him hell. He answers with the profound philosophy of the unlettered and ex-perienced: "They don't give you hell unless you raise hell."

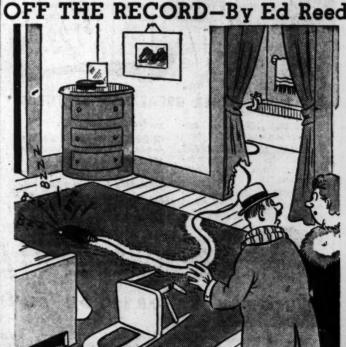

It is like raising a crop. The seed is planted and it matures and in due time produces the logical harvest. It is the ancient truth that a man reaps the thing he sows. There are times, perhaps one in a thousand, when the rule fails. A man is industrious, honest, wise and thrifty, yet his reward is misfortune. He can't guard against it, for "time and chance happeneth to them all. Yet every individual who hasn't learned to fool himself knows in his heart that his "hard luck," in almost every instance, is a crop that he planted himself. He asked for it, though he may have done it in ignorance. The pity of it is that neither experience nor observation teaches us to sow wisely. We still think the rule won't work next time. Have you ever wondered why a panic in Wall Street causes thousands of people in all parts of the country to lose their homes and other properties? It is because they are caught in debt.

The farmer who "owes not any man" is secure against any eco-nomic storm, and his family will have food and shelter and independence in the midst of general ruin. He can't lose his home if he is free of debt. Our fathers were wise enough to be afraid of debt. Now it has become as universal and characteristic of our country as chewing gum. All of us live beyond our means-consuming and enjoying things we haven't yet earned—spending our next year's income now. Like our national government and our towns, schools, churches and clubs, we take advantage of our credit and mortgage the future to enjoy a fictitious prosperity today. Our guide is desire, not Only one harvest can follow that sowing. Virtually all who have credit are in debt now; and if hard times come, they will lose what they have. In times like these, little people who are wise will get Famous North Georgia Resort Was Noted for Table Fare.

Zimmer Mountain Lodge at Dahlonega, one of the most famous northeast Georgia mountain resorts and noted far and wide for its table fare, burned to the ground early yesterday morning.

Flames rapidly enveloped the white three-story frame building, lighting the countryside. The fire was discovered by Dr. C. R. Arnold, former owner of the hotel who resides across the street from the lodge, but the building was too far gone for effective fire-fighting.

The lodge was vacant as it has been for the past three years since the death of W. V. Zimmer. Dur-ing his life time, the lodge became famous for its food and often At-lantans would drive to Dahlonega for Sunday dinner or to spend the week and Zimmer once ray the week end. It is, therefore, all the more sig-

It is, therefore, all the more significant and interesting when Dr. Niebuhr, writing in the Christian Century of April 26, on "What the Last Ten Years Has Done to Me," should say:

"I can do this most simply by confessing that I have undergone a fairly complete conversion of thought which has involved rejection of almost all the liberal theological ideals and ideas with theological ideals and ideas with which I ventured forth in 1915. I wrote my first book in 1927 which when now consulted is proved to contain almost all the theological windmills against which today I tilt my sword. . . In secular lib-eralism the spirit of tolerance is either rooted in a deep skepticism and pessimism which must finally culminate in the intolerable sneer culminate in the intolerable sneer of Pilate, 'What is truth?' or it is based on untenable optimism which believes, with John Dewey, that men of good will must, if they meditate upon the issues of life long and profoundly enough, arrive at a 'common faith.' Dewey's notion that divisions in the human family are chiefly derived. human family are chiefly derived from anachronistic religious dogmas ought, incidentally, to be fairly well refuted now by the force of the tragic events of contemporary history.

"In any profound Christianity the spirit of tolerance must be derived from the knowledge that, however necessary it may be to judge one another and even to fight one another on the moral and political level, we are all sinners who stand under God's ul-timate judgment. Liberal moralism is, in short, unable to cope either with man's immediate political or with his ultimate religious problems. It does not know how to check evil. It does not understand man in the full dimension of his spirit, and does not see that precisely because he is a child of God and made in God's image, he cannot be contained in, or easily checked by, either the harmony of nature or the prudence

After a very full and emphatic declaration of his change of mind regarding liberal attitudes of religious thought, Dr. Niebuhr concludes his article with this state-ment: "I must confess that the ment: gradual unfolding of my theological ideas has come not so much hast words of eternal life.' while imagining myself to be preaching the Gospel, I experimented with many modern alter-natives, until one by one they proved unavailing."

Memorial Day Dates From 1866 in Atlanta

It was the 73d Confederate Memorial Day which Atlanta observed yesterday.

In 1866 the ladies of Columbus decided to set apart a special day for decorating the graves of the Confederate dead. April 26 was chosen and each year thereafter the Ladies' Memorial Association has followed the custom.

The association is an out-growth of the Soldiers' Aid Society which was organized in Columbus in 1861 to care for sick and wounded soldiers. After the war, having no further duties to perform, the ladies went to the cemetery to decorate the graves of soldiers, an idea originated by a Columbus woman, Mrs. Lizzie Rutherford Ellis.

"PYGMALION" RETURNS TO RHODES TOMORROW

Leslie Howard and Wendy Hiller star in "Pygmalion," filmization of the Bernard Shaw comedy hit, which opens a return engagement at the Rhodes theater tomorrow. The story of "Pygmalion" revolves about Henry Higgins, a professor of phonetics, who on a bet takes Eliza Doolittle, a drab flower seller, out of the London slums and trains her in correct speaking, deportment and social graces with the intention of passing her off as a duchess at an ambassadorial reception. His experiment is a complete success. But now that Eliza is no longer a flower girl, now really a duchess, her problems have actually begun and it is in the outcome of these that the story reaches a surprising and unforgettable denouement.

Soviet circles continued an attitude of great reserve, however, toward developments in Berlin, but newspapers stressed the belief that return of Sir Nevile Henderson, British ambassador, to his post in Germany would encourage the Nazis to take a strong stand.

Chamberlain Explains.

His reasons for making Britain the latest and last of the major powers in Europe to adopt conscription before a war, Chamber-lain said, were for defense, to assure ability to effect pledges to protect independence of Poland. Rumania and Greece, and because:

It was announced that any 20-year-old lad could join the "Terriers" up to midnight, thus enlisting for week-end and evening training instead of the six ning training instead of the six months of full training. Soviet Russia sent a message through the British ambassador to Moscow, Sir William Seeds, that it would be easier to believe in British determination to defend the present territorial alignment in Europe if she called up an army strong enough to do so.

Diplomatic circles expected Russia and Turkey to join the alliance soon. While some observers thought Britain should have called more men, military experts explained it would be impossible to train more than one full class with the facilities now available. May Call Old Officers.

Jurors Feel Executive Sheer Bravery Instead of Commission Would Be More Efficient: Problems Studied

An effort to obtain economy and efficiency in county adminiscounty manager is expected to be ecommended tomorrow by the March-April grand jury as a result of a four-hour conference yesterday between Fulton county commissioners and the jurors. Although W. A. Baughn, fore-man, and other grand jurors, declined to make any statement regarding their impressions, and commissioners refused to divulge what transpired in the grand jury room, it was believed that jurors are convinced that a fulltime county manager should be the chief executive officer.

Outsider Preferred. Some of the jurors are said to feel that the county manager should come from outside Fulton county so that he would not be politically aligned with any faction or clique and thus be less amenable to pressure. It also was held that the best executive availtained and he should be paid accordingly. The attitude of the grand jury was said to have followed a detailed discussion of county ad-ministration under the present five-man commission. Finances, relief problems, public works expenditures and governmental costs were under scrutiny. Practically every department and every function of the county were studied as the jury prepared to wind up a seven-week probe into various phases of activity. Causes of Plight.

Blame for the county's financial plight was laid to two major causes by commissioners, according to rumors. The first is the insisted that the county assume demand that Fulton shoulder the the entire relief load, and several demand that Fulton shoulder the entire relief load, and several entire relief load, thus expending about 25 cents out of every dolard grand jury to urge favorable ac

Arthur French, operator of a tration through the selection of a dairy store at 81 Georgia avenue, S. E., was counting the day's receints at about 11:15 o'clock last night when a negro entered.

Making a move as though to draw a pistol, the nego said:

"Lock your front door. I want your money, boss man." Undaunted, French reached under the counter, drew a .45-caliber automatic and said, "We'll argue about that."

Frightened, the negro turned to or I'll plug you!"
The negro "froze." Holding him at bay with the automatic, French calmly dialed police headquarters. Within a few minutes, eight patrol attempted holdup. He gave his name as William Thompson, 28, of a Glenn street address.

French said there was more than $100 in the cash drawer when the negro entered.

The second is the unusual demand for services.

Commissioners insisted that the county can not assume the full re-lief load, estimated at about $800,-000 for all purposes, unless the special thrce-mill tax authorized

The "State of Your Figure" Is What Counts In a Beauty Contest

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

WASHINGTON.—Yesterday afternoon a number of people came to tea, among them Miss Freda Utley, who has spent a great deal of time in China, and is here trying to awaken our interest in Chinases relief. I am sure those people of the United States who are able to do so will help those in need in any country throughout the world. We have always had a sentimental interest in Chinawhich outweighs the interest we may feel for many other nations. Probably this is because so many of our early New Englanders, who gained their livelihood by sailing their ships to far parts of the world and trading their goods with other of the world and trading their goods with other nations, built up not only friendly relations with the Chinese government, but developed a respect for the Chinese merchant and his way of doing Miss Margaret Vallent, who has been making a study of cultural backgrounds in various parts of the country, also came in at tea time and brought some records she has made of songs heard in the migratory workers' camps of the southwest and western coast. Some of them are really extraordinarily interesting and show great talent, which is remarkable to find under such straitened economic conditions.

I worked all evening on the mail, and read the manuscrips of a book which had been sent in, and found it growing very late.

The book is a novel, but it imparts an enormous amount of valuable education on the subject of syphilis, and should be a great help to the young people and their elders throughout the nation.

It is not yet published, but I hope it will be soon.

A press conference this morning and an opportunity to meet a seminar group under Mr. Sherwood Eddy's leadership, which is taking a trip in our own country instead of a foreign country. This idea seemed to me so admirable that I greeted them all with the greatest joy. Now I am off to join the cabinet ladies at our annual luncheon with the ladies of the senate, which is always a very pleasant occasion

There were two articles I read in the Sunday newspaper magazine sections which I have thought about a great deal. One was a short article by Dorothy Canfield on "Where Do We Go From Here," which every young person should read. The other was an account by Anne O'Hare McCormick on the state of mind, or perhaps we should say nerves, of various European capitals. She left out one or two capitals that I would like to know something about just at present. Her remark that Anglo-Saxons are not always the calmest of people under certain conditions amused me greatly, and I think it is perfectly true. I always wish that I could be sure that I would behave in a crisis in a way I know one should behave when one thinks about it beforehand.

Q. My 3-year-old child is very bow-legged. Is there anything I is in any way more thorough or can do to correct this condition? A. Check the diet of the child to determine whether or not there is a deficiency of vitamins. Bear in mind that vegetables cooked in water which is thrown away lose much of their food value. A wellplanned diet for an average child of 3 should include at least one and one-half pints of whole milk daily, but not more than one quart; fruit once or twice a day, includ-ing at least one raw fruit, such as orange, grapefruit, apple, or ba-nana; one or more fresh vegetables daily, and green leafy vege-table such as spinach, turnip greens or beet greens at least three or four times a week, but preferably daily; a starchy vege-table such as potato, rice, or macaroni once a day; 1 egg daily; a serving of fresh meat or fish daily and butter two or three times a day, and cod liver oil daily. The cod liver oil should be given in doses recommended by a physi-cian. The child should be permitcian. The child should be permitted to play in the sun whenever possible. If the bow-legged condition is not partially corrected in six months you should place the child under the care of a physician.

Dr. Brady Prefers Diathermy Method for Removing Tonsils

By Dr. William Brady.

Here is a query typical of many:
Having just recovered from the worst attack of quinsy I ever had my doctor says I must have my doctor says I must have my doctor says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I must have my foreign cut I am afraid of control of says I am afraid of tonsils out. I am afraid of operation, yet cannot afford to pay a big fee for diathermy treatment. My doctor said diathermy extirpa-tion of tonsils costs not less than $150, where as I can have my ton-sils removed by operation at the clinic for $75.

So I would appreciate it if you will refer me to a clinic in or in where I can get the diathermy treatment for a reasonable sum. Or if not, then coul you give me a list of doctors who can extirpate tonsils with diathermy, so I can see what they would charge me. As I have two children I am afraid if anything happens to me I do not know who would look after them. (Mrs. H. S.)

My province is health and hygiene, not economics. I have no knowledge of the fees or costs of medical or surgical services and am unable to inform you whether this or that doctor or specialist will give you professional serv-ices at less than the rates or fees customary in the community.

If I were in this correspondent's place I believe I'd choose the diathermy method, for two rea-sons. First, because it is comparatively safe. Second, because it does not require hospitalization or absence from work for even a day.

If $75 is a fair fee for surgical removal of tonsils in the correspondent's community, then $150 would seem commensurate for diathermy extirpation of tonsils, which requires far greater skill.

There has been a slump in the tonsillectomy business in the past 10 years, even in Yankeeland where it is hard to find a doctor who isn't a surgeon. The slump is due primarily to the development of the modern method, diathermy or electro-coagulation, which has proved not only safer but also more comfortable than the old Spanish method. As for results, only a purblind incompetent still cherishes the quaint fancy that dissection or guillotine and snare

Beloved Atlantan To Celebrate 89th Birthday Informally Today

By Sally Forth.

THE oldest flying member of the First Methodist church and one of Atlanta's first citizens, John Robert Mobley, will celebrate his 89th birthday today, the occasion to be marked by an informal "open house" at which his son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sims Bray, will be hosts at their home on Juniper street. No invitations have been issued, but friends of Mr. Mobley, who are legion, will call between the ours of 5 and 7 o'clock to extend affectionate greetings, for the city does not boast of a more beloved citizen.

Though he retired from business some 10 or 15 years ago, Mr.

Mobley still goes to his office twice each day and retains an active interest in his business, his church, and his friends. He married the former Miss Josephine Robinson, who passed away 10 years ago, and to them were born three daughters, Mrs. Sims Bray, of Atlanta; Mrs.

Raymond Demere and Mrs. Charles Clapp, both of Savannah. Mr. Mobley's life has been marked by the type of unselfishmen. Generous and kind, selfeffacing and modest, he has given of himself and his wealth unstintedly, with never a thought of obligation or return. Quietly he goes his unassuming way, making friends in all walks of life and playing the role of unan-nounced benefactor to all those who need his help. So great has been his influence and so widespread his generosity that countless Atlantans welcome his birthday'as an opportunity to pay him

THERE will be a group of 1 proud fathers seated around the dinner tables at Washington Seminary this evening when members of the domestic science class entertain their paternal parents and a limited number friends at a dinner party. The five-course dinner will be pre-pared by the girls who, no doubt, will give their fathers the surprise of their lives when they partake of the delicious meal.

After dinner there will be the inspection of the home beautiful books. Each member of the class makes one of these books to be judged by experts not connected with the school, and for which an award is made by the teacher, Miss Catherine MacDonald, to the student whose book is considered the most superior.

THE very young set is all agog I with excitement over "the magic tree," which will be one of the fascinating features of the children's carnival to be held at the Lovett school on Saturday afternoon. Miss Austin Weds Kendrick King Kelley At Church Ceremony

The mariage of Miss Nettie Mae Austin to Kendrick King Kelley Jr. was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at Emory Theology Chapel. Rev. J. Lee Allgood officiated before an assemblage of relatives and friends.

The altar of the church was banked with fern and palms interspersed with floor baskets of Easter lilies and galdioli. Sevenbranch vandelabra flanked the altar. The music was presented by Miss Evelyn Wall and Charles White.

Miss Sarah Austin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an aquamarine colored net gown posed over matching taffeta trimmed with yellow velvet bows.

Mrs. W. D. Kelley was matronof-honor. Her gown was fashioned along similiar lines as that worn by the maid of honor. They car-ried bouquets of pastel flowers harmonizing with the dainty clus-ters of flowers worn in their hair. The junior bridesmaids were Mis An Austin Acker, cousin of the bride, and Miss Annie Laurie the bride, and Miss Annie Laurie Floyd. Their gowns and flowers were the same as the other attendants. They wore strands of seed pearls, gifts of the bride.

Ushers were Coburn Kelley, brother of the groom, Earnest Nealy and John, Glenn and Edward Austin, brothers of the bride.

The bride entered with her.

The bride entered with her father, Glenn Greer Austin and they were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, W. D. groom and his best man, W. D. Kelley. She wore a gown of white satin made along princess lines and featuring a high cowl neckline. A ity and their dates. veil of illussion tulle was caught to her hair by a coronet of orange blossoms. She caried a bouquet of bride's roses. Her only adornment was a strand of pearls worn by Mrs. J. W. Weems, sister of

Crackers Rout Vols, 10-1; Jack Bolling Asks for New Chance

Huckleberry Finn "growed up" is coming back to Atlanta Saturday with his world-famous travel library of technicolor movies which cover a variety of spectacular scenes throughout

This amazing character, who almost two decades ago was paid to go fishing and make pictures of fishing, hunting, gardens and general travel scenes, entertained a capacity crowd several weeks ago at the Shrine temple.

all who saw Jack And Lamb's pictures were of the unanimous opinion that they exceeded all expectations. They can be fully appreciated only by seeing them twice and then almost everyone wants to go back

These color movies embrace the outstanding garden scenes of America and sports reels of unexcelled quality. Bill Lourcey, world's greatest quail shot, comes to life on the screen with a son and daughter of Muscle Shoals Jake and gives an unbelievable exhibition of quail hunting in southwest Texas.

Lamb's skill as a black bass fisherman unfolds on the screen. He did not, of course, take these pictures. But a capable assistant captures some "shots" that the most able of fishermen will

The show is worth much more than the admission price of 25 cents which the Service Group and Omnibus has set for each of the two Saturday performances at the city auditorium. And yet it is within the reach of all and should be taken advantage of, by all means.
All proceeds will go to benefit charities sponsored by the Service Group and Omnibus composed of Atlanta women who are devoting their time and effort to relief and rehabilitation of worthy and underprivileged Atlanta families and maintenance of two charity beds in Egleston hospital for children.

Officers of the organization are Mrs. Frank M. Inman, president; Mrs. William H. Kiser, first vice president; Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn, second vice president; Mrs. Herbert Alden, recording secretary; Mrs. William Bailey Lamar, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Frederic J. Paxon, treasurer; Mrs. Robert C. Alston, parliamentarian; Mrs. Charles E. Sciple, executive secretary, and Mrs. Gordon P. Kiser, chairman of the ways and means

If the pictures do not constitute a bargain, then the word means something other than what the dictionary says it does.

Fritz Oetting Hits Homer With Two Aboard; Patterson Catches.

By FREDDIE RUSSELL. NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 26.— Atlanta's first five batsmen laced out screaming base hits to score four runs in the first inning here today and the Crackers coasted to a 10-1 victory over Larry Gilbert's

Ray Starr never received a warmer reception. Mauldin sin-gled, Mailho doubled, Oetting sinbefore he could get a man out.

> Earl Mann talked to Paul Richards over long distance last night and the results of the conversation were a lit-tle more optimistic than those of recent days.

Richards will have an examination on his ailing knee when the club returns to Atlanta Friday. Paul told the Cracker president that his knee hurt him off and on and he couldn't tell about it. However, if the examination Friday proves the manager will be out, Mann said the Crackers would go right out and get a catcher.

"Patterson looked good yes-terday," Earl said, "and Paul was quite pleased with his performance. However, it is unlikely he will be able to catch regularly in this league. The Dixisteel people are nice to let us have him and he is nice to play but if Richards is going to be out, we'll have to get some help."

Mann also revealed Richards was very pleased over the way his team played in their 10-1 victory over Nash-ville. The club was really hustling and Burge looked great on first base. Paul also was glad to hear the Crackers had landed Sperry from the Athletics.

Mike Martynik relieved and quelled the visitors until the fourth. J. D. Patterson, catcher from the Dixie Steel nine who joined the Crackers today, opened the round with a single, and after Hasson's on Smoll's bunt, he scored on Mailho's single to right. Fritz Oetting then lifted a home run over the 352-foot left-field fence, counting both runners ahead.

The other three survivors are Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager, who was piloting the Cubs in 1929; Bucky Harris, with Washington now but with Detroit a decade ago, and Bill McKechnie, Red manager who finished the 1929 season with the Cardi-

Lena Blackburne, now with a double to center, took third on Gill's infield out and scored on Homan's fly to Oetting. But for a bad hop, Oetting's fine throw the first of the season of the sea to the plate would have snuffed Ens, who finished the 1929 season as manager of Pittsburgh, now

Other 1929 managers who have disappeared from the ma-jor league picture include Bill Carrigan, Boston Red Sox; Wal-ter Johnson, Washington; Dan Howley, St. Louis Browns; Rog-er Peckingpaugh, Cleveland; Emil Fuchs, Boston Bees, or at that time Braves; John Hen-dricks, Cincinnati; Burt Shotton, Phillies; Billy Southworth, who started the season as Cardinal pilot, and Donie Bush, who started as Pirate boss.

With the exception of the Athletics, where the perennial Connie Mack holds forth—he held eighth last year—the clubs have had any where from one to five managers in the last 10 years, with Bill Terry, who succeeded McGraw in 1932, the only pilot who succeeded a 1929 pilot to stick to one job.

has had five managers in the last decade. The Dodgers have had four, the White Sox, In-dians, Cubs, Braves, Cardinals and Pirates three each, and the Tigers, Yankees (remember Bob Sharkey?) and Phillies two on the comparative records it would seem that football coaches and major league managers are about in a tie when it comes to duration of their jobs, with the duration of their jobs, with the baseball managers somewhat at a disadvantage. They have no alumni behind them. The alumni always are behind the football coaches, either slapping them on the back or kicking them.

Chicago Cubs Turn Back the Slow-Starting Pirates by 3 to 1.

Two accurate throws by Outfielder Terry Moore helped Curt Davis pitch and bat the St. Louis Cardinals to a 1-to-0 victory yesterday over the Cincinnati Reds.

Davis limited the Reds to five hits, but they could have scored one and possibly two runs had one and possibly two runs had Moore's pegs been wild. In the sixth, Ernie Lombardi was nipped at the plate attempting to lumber in on Wally Berger's single, and in the ninth Moore nailed Ival Goodman trying to reach third on Frankie McCormick's single.

The Cardinals got only six hits off a trio of Redleg pitchers, Lee Grissom, Peaches Davis and Junior Thompson.

The National league's pace-setting Chicago Cubs ran their victory string to four as Gene Lillard, former Cub infielder making his major league debut as a pitcher, turned back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3 to 1. It was the sixth straight defeat for Pittsburgh. Lillard allowed eight hits and walked four men, pitching him-self out of several tight spots as the Bucs managed to get their first man on base in every inning but the fourth and ninth. Chicago collected seven hits off three Pittsburgh pitchers, bunching four of them in the fifth for all their runs.

With one out in the fifth, Gus Mancuso singled. Lillard was thrown out, but Dick Bartell doubled and Stan Hack was purposely walked to fill the bases. Billy Herman's single counted Mancuso and Bartel. Hack scored on Jimmy Gleeson's single, which sent Blanton to the showers. Mace Brown and Joe Bowman finished. Other games were rained out.

100 PREP STARS TO SEEK CROWN OF LUKE BARNES

Boys' High Team Ex-pected To Be Contender for Championship.

By ROY WHITE.

Tech High, Boys' High and G. A.'s golf teams will tee off Tenn., in the annual southern Rotary invitation tournament. Luke Barnes won the cham-pionship last year and also led Tech High to victory in the team competition and will be one of the favorites to retain the championship in the two-day medal oys' High will offer the toughest competition from Atlanta and most likely will figure materially in the low scoring for team hon-ors. The Purples, with Alan Yates, Billy Caye, a former city junior champion; Weldon Branch, the present city junior champion and George Sargent Jr., son of the veteran East Lake professional, are probably the best balanced prep golf team in the south.

OTHER SMITHIES.

In addition to Luke Barnes, Tech High will have Billy John-son, B. G. Stowe Jr., and Bill

Berry.
G. M. A.'s team will not be announced until play starts this morning, for Wednesday, being a holiday, it was not learned just which players made the trip.

Although no announcement has been made, it is likely that North Fulton High will have a couple of added entries from Atlanta, though not to compete for team "Would advise Carl Flock and Homer Harris to come up and try their stunt here. Am sure it would net them more than 18 pounds."

But, Andy, they were out only two hours, and, besides, no body believes the fish actually jumped in the boat. The incredulity of human nature sometimes is amazing. And I hope no one goes so far as to bet it can't happen there.

"WHAT'S THE MATTER?"

William McGregor Keefe, who has been presiding over the ports department of the Times-Picayune in New Orleans since hortly after Andrew Jackson and Jean LaFitte, the pirate, joined hands to rout the British, comments thusly on the Southern league race:

"Two questions are being asked very freely among South ern league fans at this time (as a night club master of ceremonies says). Both questions start with 'What is the matter? "What is the matter with the Crackers?

"What is the matter with the Smokies?,

"There you have two brain-twisters. "I have scanned the Atlanta papers and fail to find any-thing which would throw some light on the predicament of the Sammy Spead?" gasped Walter. Crackers. At first, when I picked up the morning paper the other day and saw Knoxville on top and Atlanta about to move in on the ground floor, I heaved the paper against the wall, gave the little dog a kick, beat the baby and refused to eat breakfast.

"'Those doggone make-up men have gone to work and "Those doggone make-up men have gone to work and no fooling. And then if they pied up the Southern league standing,' I snarled to myself. 'Why wanted to bet us a little on the n the devil didn't they leave it out instead of running it like that?'

"But I checked up and found out Knoxville was in the king's row. And that things had not been going so bright with the spite the handicap of weakened Crackers. That's when I rounded up some of the Cracker eyesight, and never a golfer lived papers to see what Messrs. Ed Danforth, Morgan Blake, Guy Butler and Jack Troy had to say about it.

"The Atlanta boys have very little to say about the vishyers. They all seem to be waiting. They never like to be wishywashy about things in Atlanta. They will wait to see if the and I did in our prime," he constant that doesn't mean ceded. "But that doesn't mean ceded. "But that doesn't mean ceded." sunk then you will read some warm things in the Crackerville prints. But if Paul Richards gets the Crax out of the mire and prints. But if Paul Richards gets the Crax out of the mire and the difference by itself. Not to starts striking out for the top our Atlanta friends will puff out mention that the modern ball rolls their chests and say: 'We knew it all the time.' "

LOSTAGAL GOOD IN THE MUD.

J. E. Parker, of Macon, old telegraphic comrade of the footoall wars, drops a line on the coming Kentucky Derby.

"When you get to the Downs on Derby day and by any chance the track is muddy, have at least 'two sheets' on Lostagal. He's a bear in the mud and Gregory has him primed for a killing. He and his wife have a hundred across on him in the winter book, and got odds of 60 to 1 back in January. So don't let him get away. He will probably be 10 to 1, even on a muddy track, at post time, but is worth a risk.

"Right now it looks like Technician, Johnstown and Impound, but it's too far away to be positive. Anything can happen in 10 days, as you know."

As far as a Derby is concerned, anything can happen in two minutes and a fraction—and usually does. This looks like a well-balanced field, much stronger than last year's. So any one of half a dozen horses might kick the dope around. After all, who can tell what El Chico, Challedon or Xalapa Clown

NEW YORK, April 26 .- (AP)-Though he's celebrating this sumthe 25th anniversary of his first national open golf triumph Walter Hagen still gets the light of battle in his eyes at the sug-gestion there is a new breed of "super-golfer" trodding the fairways these days.

Specifically, the Haig thinks he and the Bobby Jones of a decade ago could have trimmed the pants the current crop of hotshots with their stroke-saving sand wedges, their "forty-mile" golf balls and their neatly manicured courses that never give a bad lie.
"Do I think Bobby and I could have held our own in a series of Sammy Snead?" gasped Walter.
"Why, I'll tell you what. If Bobby would be willing to take off a year from business right now and get himself in shape for a match with those fellows, I would do it, too—anything. This sand wedge they're using now is enough to account for 30 or 40 yards further.

"Why, when I think of the ability Jones had in those days and the confidence I had, I don't see how any of these kids could have beaten us. We had to have more courage than they need nowadays to win, and I'll tell you why.

"With this sand wedge in their bags the kids don't have to be scared of traps. After knocking their drives a country mile they can shoot right at the pin with their seconds every time. So they get lots of short putts and lots of birdies. They know if they do hit trap they still can scrape the probably get a par, anyhow. Anybody can bang the ball with con-

In passing, and not necessarily to clinch his argument, Walter mentioned that he had won the British open four times, the United States open twice and the P. G. A. match play title five times. He wouldn't even guess at how many championships Bobby, his poten-tial partner against the upstarts, had salted away in his time. "Thousands, anyhow," he said.

"Let's give these boys a little more time to see what they can do about winning championships," he suggested. "Bob and I want a real run for our money when we challenge 'em to that match."

By EARL HILLIGAN. CHICAGO, April 26.—(F)—Peppery Dick Bartell is cashing in on the silver lining he found behind the clouds which recently darkened the Chicago Cubs hopes of a second straight National League championship.

The $24,000-a-year shortstop didn't start the season April 18—but neither did his mates. Cloudy, cold, rainy weather forced the Cubs to wait until April 22 to start the campaign, and the post-ponements were "ill winds" which blew Dick a lot of good. Bartell, along with Catcher

DICK BARTELL Hank Leiber, came to the Cubs last winter in a deal which sent Ken O'Dea, Bill Jurges and Frank Demaree to the New York Glants. With Bartell apparently ready for a great season, Cub fans are positive Chicago got the best of the transaction.

CHICAGO, April 26.—(P)-Wheat prices continued to advance today on the strength of unfavorable crop reports from parts of the southwest, but buyers were cau-tious pending further confirma-tion as to the extent of reported

July and September wheat, representing the new crop, advanced almost a cent soon after the opening, reaching highs of 69 3-4 and 70 5-8, best in three months, but thereafter fluctuated nervously, with gains almost wined out at with gains almost wiped out at times. These contracts closed 3-8 to 5-8 higher than yesterday, May 69 3-4 to 69 5-8, July 70 1-4 to 70 3-8. May wheat was depressed by selling prior to the delivery period and finished unchanged to 1-4 higher at 69 7-8 to 69 3-4.

Corn finished unchanged to 1-4 higher, May 48 3-8 to 48 1-2, July 50 1-8 to 50 1-4; oats 1-8 to 1-4 lower; rye 1-8 to 3-8 up; lard 3 to higher.

While many traders expressed skepticism that serious crop de-cline could occur in such a short time, pointing out that as late as a week ago the winter wheat prospect generally was good and in some localities excellent, pessi-mistic reports continued to come in from some districts, particularly in Oklahoma and Kansas.

The tension in the conference room in the Hotel Biltmore, where representatives of the operators and the United Mine have argued for seven weeks, increased and occasionally the angry tones of a negotiator were heard in the corridors.

At the end of the day Steelman, vho was appointed by Perkins, made a brief statement that no progress had been made in breaking the deadlock over miners' demands for either a closed shop or elimination of the pen alty clause so that the union might protect itself in the event of raid "Arguments on both sides were by rival unions.

CHICAGO.

CHICAG completed today to my satisfac-tion," Steelman said. "In these two days of joint conferences and separate conferences with the operators and representatives of the union I have gained the complete viewpoint of both sides on all questions before the conference.
"Beginning tomorrow I'm ready to begin attempts to find a way to bridge the gap that has been keeping the two parties from reaching an understanding." NO SHORTAGE FELT

IN BIRMINGHAM AREA
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 26. (AP)—While complaints of an impending coal shortage came from other sections of the nation, major coal consumers in the Birmingham district reported "nothing resem bling a shortage would be felt for at least 60 days."

Most of the area's industrial consumers said they had laid in a large coal supply in anticipation of the "holiday" in force since expiration of a mining contract

Both operators and miners here April 1. awaited completion of an agree-ment for the Appalachian district before opening negotiations here.

Tears at Hearts. Beethoven's "Appassionata Son-ata" Paderewski played in its entirety. It was a performance that tore at the hearts of every listener. There was no passion, little strength left in the arms that once the heavens, but there was something in this grand old man's tone. a revelation in his interpretation.

that left one feeling that the superman was before us. But few times has anything touched me so deeply as the sec-ond movement of the Sonata, rich in tonal pathos, and later in the program Chopin's "Nocturne in B major, Opus 62." The Nocturne was so heavenly in its beauty that it seemed we mortals were grasping futilely to understand what this great soul was speaking to us.

Tenderest, Loveliest. And when at the close of the program, after Chopin's "Ballade in F minor" and "Mazurka in F sharp minor, Opus 59," and Schubert's "Impromptu in A flat," Paderewski brought his program to a close with the music "Isolde's Love Death." from Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," a Liszt transcription. Then, as there sobbed from his brave and soulful fingers some of the tenderest and loveliest music ever written, one felt as if the angels were guiding his fingers. I have never heard such an ovation, such an expression of appreciation as the audience accorded Paderewski. There were shout of "Bravo!" from all sections of the audience and storms of applause. And wonderful man that he is, Paderewski, though spent with the Congressional sentiment against a fatigue of a strenuous concert, returned to play two encores.

TARZAN AND THE FIRES OF TOHR

the monstrous column of blue flame leaped roar-ing from the depths of the earth, enveloping the metal grill upon which the prisoner was chained. The priests lifted their voices in an ecstatic chant

For a brief period the fire danced its macabre dance of death. Then with a quick forward thrust of the controlling lever, Ahtea closed the stone trap. The roaring column of flame van-ished. The twelve priests, still chanting, filed solemnly from the chamber. Silence!

Ahtea turned proudly to her "guests." "Behold, Tarzan of the Apes, and you, Janette Burton! Behold the devouring might of Pantu, god of the Fires of Tohr!" Major Burton blinked at the grill where the prisoner had been chained. "Why —the fellow has—vanished!"

"The fires of Tohr destroy completely," the queen answered, "and thus are consumed all those who oppose my will . . . Now, Tarzan of the Apes, it is the will of Ahtea that you remain in Tohr—as king of the yellow-men and mate of Ahtea. What is your answer?"
